

2008: April

Good material in the Ford Foundation report:

The Public Square In A Digital Age, click image below

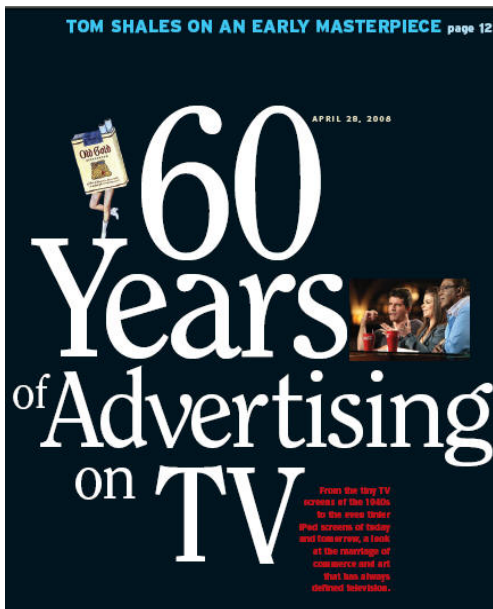

22-24 I was pleased to have been invited back to South Carolina ETV for their bi-annual Teacher Technology days workshops. Once again, standards related to media literacy were presented to participating teachers. The PowerPoint I used is posted on the presentations page. I am on the ETV calendar to return in July. If you missed these sessions, consider signing up on the ETV website. Registration opens May 6.

14

	now available Children & Electronic Media (Vol.18 #1, Spring 2008) journal issue executive summary article summaries policy brief "Using the Media to Promote Adolescent Well-Being"
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

8 5th Annual Speak Up Survey:

Students Want the 21st Century Classroom: Schools Not Prepared (PR, website)

Special Issue of Advertising
Age

NEW: International Journal of Media & Learning (announcement); journal site

Preview AFI's ScreenNation