

2010: November-December

DECEMBER 2010

30 Thanks to SLJ blogger Joyce Valenza for referencing my revised resources

 Sexualized Teen Girls: Tinsel Town's New Target A Study of Teen Female Sexualization in the Media 	Parents Television Council releases report: Tinseltown's New Target: A study of Teen Female Sexualization on Primetime TV
---	--

NOVEMBER 2010

24

A Report on Media Literacy from the 2010 National Council of Teachers of English Annual (NCTE) Conference

10

Thanks to all of the teachers from Hampton District 1 who attended my workshops at Wade Hampton High School during professional development day. I hope you enjoyed it as much as I did. Thanks for your participation and enthusiasm.

Digital and Media Literacy: A Plan of Action, a new policy paper by Renee Hobbs, Professor at the School of Communications and the College of Education at Temple University and founder of its Media Education Lab, proposes a detailed plan that positions digital and media literacy as an essential life skill and outlines steps that policymakers, educators, and community advocates can take to help Americans thrive in the digital age. (Download PDF or Read online)

available
at www.knightcomm.org