Sample Page

Imagine you're a fish, underwater and you're about to approach this marsh, which is a rich source of food for fish.

Perhaps you might not even notice the heron standing there, because its legs might resemble the marsh grass.

And that's exactly what the heron is hoping: a fish will approach and the heron will catch and eat it.